

Washington State Convention Center Project Manager Ron Bolstad Joins Tiscareno Associates

Tiscareno Associates announces the hiring of Ron Bolstad to help lead the rapidly growing architecture and urban design firm. His wide-ranging architectural background includes twenty years at NBBJ and nearly a decade at LMN Architects.

Mr. Bolstad has served as the project manager for many well-known Seattle projects, including the Washington State Convention and Trade Center and Harborview Medical Center. He has also had key responsibilities on Benaroya Hall and Marion Oliver McCaw Hall.

At Tiscareno Associates, Ron will oversee all aspects of project delivery, from programming through construction administration. He brings particular expertise in quality control, technical documentation and project execution.

The firm has also added designers Sophie Hong, a graduate of University of Oregon and Katie Schnur, a graduate of University of Kentucky.

In the Press: View our recently published article "The Vision of the Master Plan Yields Vibrant Centers" in the Puget Sound Business Journal

https://media.scoopreprints.com/web_reprints/26214_chase_marketing_.htm

Read about new projects, including Sweetbriar on Queen Anne and River Park in Redmond, both mixed-used projects, at www.tiscareno.net.